Art Appreciation

Education empowers people and particularly students by offering a platform where people can acquire knowledge which is essential in the attainment of their career goals. The career goals that students have co-exist in a marriage of sorts with their academic interests and courses that they choose to pursue. For the past four years, I have been pursuing my associate degree in nursing a course which I chose due to my desire to have a solid career foundation in healthcare. However, besides nursing, I have also taken a number of online courses which has offered new platforms to learn and increase my realm of experience.

I can attest that the online classes were very effective and beneficial to me. The experience I had was entirely different from what I got in classes. I dealt with a wide range of tests that offered the opportunity to assess my ability to deal with various tasks. The online courses also helped me assess my ability to work without supervision. This inspired me to become accountable and responsible in other areas in life as well as in matters relating to my course work. It gave me a sense of responsibility since for the period I was taking the online courses, I had to ensure that I followed what was going on in the classes without being supervised or being held accountable.

For this semester, I am focusing on art appreciation. In the end, besides getting good grades, I hope that I will have acquired new knowledge in relation to art. Of course I cannot exhaust all the forms of art that exist but I believe that the experience that I will get will impact positively on my life. The reason why I chose to take art appreciation and not any other appreciation course is based on the benefits that are derived from the interaction with different forms of art. Besides learning, will be able to develop my thinking, listening and observing skills (Colchico). This will place me in a better position to handle different challenges that I may encounter in my career. Therefore, besides learning I will also get to improve myself which is more like using one stone for two birds.
